

Alex Morgan

Alex Morgan is the Community Outreach Specialist at Boulder Journey School. In this position, she works with teachers and children to support investigations in the classroom. In addition to supporting classroom work, she designs and coordinates professional development opportunities to encourage adult learning, both locally in Colorado and at conferences and workshops around the country. Additionally, Alex is an instructor in the Boulder Journey School Teacher Education Program. Alex is passionate about weaving inspirations from Boulder-based educators, Frances and David Hawkins, and the educators from Reggio Emilia, Italy into her work with adults and children as they discover, uncover, and mess about. She has shared this work through articles, conferences, and presentations, including TEDxBoulder.
